All Jet Propulsion Laboratory materials are in the public domain, having been completed under U.S. Government funding.

CA-163-S-1 Credit WCT. Original 2- $\frac{1}{4}$ " x 2- $\frac{1}{4}$ " color negative is housed in the JPL Photography Laboratory, Pasadena, California. Photo shows John Morrow in charge of milling operations on coupons ("dogbones") of propellant on an Index milling machine. Coupons were milled to precise dimensions for tensile tests. Note that two sprinkler heads have been placed in very close proximity to the milling table for fire suppression purposes (JPL negative no. JPL-10283AC, 27 January 1989).

NOTE: See HAER photo CA-163-10 for photo of Building E-42 in relation to other preparation buildings.
